

Festive Breaks
at Gleneagles

A Festive Treat

The festive season is a special time of year. At Gleneagles®, you'll find the very best of Scottish hospitality - beautifully decorated Christmas trees, logs burning in open fires, the warming aroma of mulled wine, mince pies, carols and dancing, as well as a whole host of other activities.

Indulge yourself and your family in the ultimate seasonal break by staying right through the entire festive period. Alternatively, choose a three night Christmas or Hogmanay break. Or join us for a few nights in between. Whether winding up or winding down, Gleneagles is as luxurious and comfortable as you would expect.

For All the Family

The festive holiday is a time for thanksgiving and celebration to be shared with your family. It's a time when traditional values are upheld and magical stories are brought to life! At Gleneagles, you'll find an array of activities to inspire and delight the whole family.

Christmas

24 – 27 December 2010

Christmas is an extra special time of year. Join us to experience the full magic of Gleneagles.

Hogmanay

30 December 2010 – 2 January 2011

We extend a warm welcome to old and new friends to celebrate a traditional Hogmanay at Gleneagles.

Free Extra Night

Join us for the full Christmas or Hogmanay programmes and enjoy an extra night with our compliments.

Additional Nights

27, 28, 29 December 2010

Recharge your batteries after the Christmas festivities and get ready for Hogmanay with a few extra days' break between the two celebrations.

Christmas at Gleneagles

24 – 27 December

At Gleneagles you'll find roaring log fires, carol singing and Santa Claus. The three night Christmas break runs from 24 to 27 December and is everything that you and your loved ones could wish for.

There are special events for children and adults too, with freshly baked mince pies and mulled wine, music and dancing, along with a veritable feast of the finest food - smoked Scottish salmon, turkey and the famous Gleneagles Christmas pudding!

Hogmanay at Gleneagles

30 December – 2 January

Hogmanay celebrations at Gleneagles are legendary. Join our three night party from 30 December to 2 January. Enjoy country pursuits on the 850 acre estate and take part in a variety of indoor and outdoor activities. Say farewell to the Auld Year and welcome in the New Year with our pipers at the Hogmanay Ball.

Additional Nights

27, 28, 29 December

When booking for Christmas or Hogmanay, extend your stay for an extra day or two of relaxation and indulgence, dining on the very best of Scotland's larder.

Stay between 27 and 30 December and recharge your batteries in time for the Hogmanay celebrations. Or join us for the ultimate festive break and stay for the entire holiday season, from 24 December until 2 January.
